LTC Robert F Winters

LTC Robert F. Winters has influenced many of us over his years here at Penn State. He came to this University as a Major and was initially the OIC for University Park. He was in charge of enrolment, Basic Camp, recruiting and coordination with the seven branch campuses. After his promotion, LTC Winters took on the responsibilities of XO for the AROTC Detachment and was the basic overseer of all operations. Among his extra duties, LTC Winters was the Officer Advisor for Scabbard & Blade, a duty which he took quite an amount of personal satisfaction from. Further, LTC winters was also the OIC for Brigade finances and the yearbook. He has always been a hard driver and the results have been the successful and efficient management of the Brigade. As Officer Advisor for Freedom's Shield, LTC winters' hard work and coordination have been largely responsible for the successful completion of this year's edition. We could not have made it without him (notice LTC Winters pointing out one of our suspense dates). We would like to thank LTC Winters for his hard work and dedication in his tour here and wish him the best of luck in his next assignment.

DEDICATIONS . . .

Captain Lawrence Curtin came to Penn State in 1978, where he acted as the primary MS III instructor. His professionalism as an Army Officer and his dedication to that profession, greatly influenced all of us who were lucky enough to have been his students. He was always open and honest (not to mention witty) in answering any questions asked of him, even about the Transportation Corps, toward which he did have a slight bias. With his promotion, Major Curtin took on more staff duties. His loss as an instructor was greatly felt. Nonetheless, we wish him and his family the most of luck in future assignments and the balance of his military career.

MAJ Lawrence M Curtin

SGM John A Jurceka

SGM John Jurceka, or the "SMADGE" as he was more affectionately known to cadre and cadets, has been a big figure throughout his tour at Penn State. As NCOIC of the AROTC Detachment, he has been responsible for the overall coordination of all aspects of operations. His job has been, indeed, a challenge but he has faced it with over twenty years of military experience. SGM Jurceka has also been the NCO Advisor for Lion's Guard, a job which demands a lot of work, but offers a good deal of personal satisfaction. SGM Jurceka's hard driving perseverance has kept this Detachment in superior operating condition, which far surpasses any other University in the ROTC system. Good luck in the future and your career.

In the small space provided on this page, how can anyone say enough about SSG Rick Srubar? As Administrative NCO, he has held the future careers of many cadets in his hands. The long hours of correctly processing Basic Camp, Advanced Camp, and Accession packets has paid off for us all. As the NCO Advisor for the Orienteering Club and Freedom's Shield, the hard work never stopped. As Yearbook Advisor, SSG Srubar helped with almost everything, sacrificing many a week-end to give us his support. His overall knowledge of the military and how it functions has been beneficial to all of us who have gone to him for help and his willingness to bend over backward wherever there were problems he could solve has also been greatly appreciated. A very sincere thankyou to you SSG Srubar for all you have done here at Penn State and the most of luck as your career continues to develop.

As I look back on this my two years at Penn State, I continue to be impressed with the young men and women who make up the Cadet Brigade. To me, it seems that each year's senior class is better than the last and that it will be difficult for their record to be topped. But each year their record is topped and that is as it should be because it means that ROTC is improving each year. For many of you this year marks the end of your college career and the beginning of a professional career as an officer in the service of your nation. Recently an individual retiring after 25 years as a successful educator commented that he owed whatever success he achieved to all those persons who took time to show him how to do things right and who had shown faith in him by giving him challenging assignments. It is my hope that we in your instructor group have taken the time to show you how to do things right. And now in good faith we will watch as you accept the challenge in your first assignments. It gives me a great deal of pride and satisfaction to watch this year's seniors graduate and become commissioned officers because I am confident they are going to rise to the challenge waiting for them to do well.

The Army in the 1980's will face special challenges which all of you as future leaders will be called upon to play a role in overcoming. Much will be required of all of you during the decade and preparation is paramount. Therefore, it is incumbent on you to glean all that you can from your professors, military and civilian, while you are here so that you are indeed prepared for whatever life brings you. The education you receive here at Penn State will qualify you to continue the learning process by personal experience no matter what career you may ultimately pursue. We, in the ROTC Instructor Group have dedicated ourselves to providing you with the very best military foundation we could during your time with us.

For ROTC Eyes Only.

Since you're in ROTC, you're cleared to receive some CLASSIFIED information about savings on auto insurance rates. Advanced or scholarship ROTC students are eligible for TOP SECRET data about USAA membership. Membership that doesn't cost you anything, but can start saving you money right away. USAA has been doing that for more than one million military officers since 1922.

In most states, USAA auto insurance can save you from 10 to 35% over what you would pay in premiums at many insurance companies. Savings like that can mean an extra night out every month. Or, savings like that can mean savings.

More than a million military officers look to USAA for low-cost, comprehensive coverage for their autos, homes, personal possessions and liabilities. They like, and you'll like, USAA's convenient way of doing business via toll-free telephone. When you need insurance information, or have a claim, you're just a phone call on us away from service.

If you're in ROTC, all you need now is this: 1-800-531-8080. This is the Toll Free number to dial for more information about auto insurance savings from USAA.

Your CONTACT at USAA will pass on strategic details about becoming a preferred risk insured without going through any red tape.

Serving you best because we know you better.

Congratulations to:

Be All That You Can Be!

TO ALL PARTICIPANTS IN ARMY ROTC

As my tour of duty comes to an end, I want to wish all the Cadets GOD SPEED and SUCCESS in their careers as officers in the United States Army. It's your life, your decision, GO ARMY! Your life in the military will be filled with fun, excitement, adventure, travel, and at times, even some sorrow. You will survive! There is a whole new world awaiting you out there, so go for it. You have earned it and you deserve the best. Make it the best wherever you may be stationed. As each class graduates, a part of me goes with them. I hope in the years to come, some of my knowledge has seeped through those close-knit brains of yours. I tried my best to guide and direct each of you the best way I knew how. For those who have gone before you, all are happy in their careers and assignments. This makes me happy to know I have done some good in my assignment with the ROTC Department. Remember, "Everything in the world is a rush job." Be Alert, be Prepared, but above all, be Yourself. Although I will no longer be here to support the underclassmen, there are competent and well informed individuals who will. I bid thee adieu with all the success the future holds for each and everyone of you. In years to come, I'll remember sweet, the pitter-patter down the hall, of your big feet.

UNITED STATES MARINE CORPS

Get more out of college than just a degree.

The Proud Marine Reserve

The Individual Active Duty Program can help you get more out of college than just a degree. You can be a member of the U.S. Marine Corps Reserve while you earn a college degree—and good money at the same time. If you're qualified, you can sign while a senior in high school. That summer after graduation, you go through recruit training. In the fall, as a college student, you attend Reserve drills one weekend a month at starting pay of $50 per weekend drill. Each summer, you attend Reserve training for two weeks. And when you graduate from college, you have completed your active Reserve training commitment. That's the I.A.D. program. For more details, call 800-423-2600, toll free. In California, 800-252-0241. Better yet, go straight to your local Marine recruiter.

Build for Your Future

Congratulations. As a member of Army ROTC, you've selected an opportunity with a future. A lifetime of reward awaits you with challenges, responsibilities and contributions not offered by any other profession.

If you want to be sure your family will enjoy tomorrow the security your Army Officer career provides today, you should consider joining the Army Mutual Aid Association.

Even if your family exists now only in your plans, you can begin to build for their future protection. Call or write the Army Mutual for information today, while your membership costs are the lowest they will ever be.
